

I'm reading the audio programming book the remainder of the day. Brushing up on my C programming skills and learning some about music theory. I wonder why there isn't a E#. IDK.

I was reading in Forbes magazine that all money is just Fiat money. Not backed buy anything. I guess that how Fiat automotive got their start. Here is the article.

I was reading in Forbes magazine that all money is just Fiat money. Not backed buy anything. I guess that how Fiat automotive got their start. Here is the article.

I've done some research and found out the women are probably the real cheaters not saying that men aren't. But one way to but trust back into the relationship would be RFID implants for both sexes. Here is an article on how women are the real cheaters.

I really don't mean to be mean, but I'm just tired of being the only one talking and I don't believe in paying someone to talk either. I really don't think consulting is even a job. Like Stephen Hawking said keep on talking.